

Course: SLIS 711-Fall 2019

Instructor: Edward Blessing

Assignment: Annotated Citations

Due date: Ongoing, due weekly on Fridays, 11:59pm

Grade Value: 25 points

Beginning with the readings for Week 3, you are required to submit 2 annotated citations to Blackboard weekly. One of these should be for one of the assigned readings, the other should be for a journal article of your own choice.

Annotations are descriptive and critical: they may describe the author's point of view, authority, or clarity and appropriateness of expression; they also critique (either positively or negatively) the reading.

The purpose of the annotation is to inform the reader of the relevance, accuracy, and quality of the sources cited.

Write a concise annotation that summarizes the central theme and scope of the book or article. Include one or more sentences that (a) evaluate the authority or background of the author, (b) comment on the intended audience, (c) compare or contrast this work with another you have cited, or (d) explain how this work illuminates a particular topic.

Every paper that cites other work, i.e. almost any type of scholarly writing, starts with a set of annotated citations. The two papers required for this course later in the semester are based at least in part on the annotated citations you write weekly.

How to find these readings:

I suggest you begin searching for your individual weekly readings through databases accessible through the Thomas Cooper Library website (students who are off-campus will need to sign in to use these databases):

Library, Information Science & Technology Abstracts with Full Text

Library Literature & Information Science Full Text

You can search for different archives topics by doing a keyword search with the word “archive” and then another topic word, e.g. “digital”. A search such as this will pull up some relevant articles, through which you can find relevant subject headings. You can also limit your results to recent (post-2000) articles, which I would like you to do.

I will screen share a basic search that should get you on the “write” path. Yep, I make dad jokes.
